

BRANFORD COALITION TO PREVENT UNDERAGE DRINKING

PRESENTS:

Steve Ford

"BUILDING A STRONGER FUTURE"

DATE: May 3, 2006

PLACE: Branford High School

Time: 7:00 P.M.

Steve Ford, the son of former President Gerald Ford and Betty Ford, has successfully negotiated a bumpy road that's taken him from the White House to a successful 20 year career as an actor in Hollywood. One of Steve's most rewarding roles has been that of a motivational speaker. Steve mixes his always popular White House stories with more serious motivational and Inspirational topics such as the importance of strong family values, the need for personal accountability and transformation in today's hectic world, and alcohol and drug abuse awareness, along with his own successful battle with overcoming alcoholism.

During Steve's non-political presentation he will focus on such issues as the value of a strong family unit, living life with values and character, setting and juggling priorities, and making the right choices in life. Steve's presentation is entertaining, enlightening, insightful and inspirational.

The Branford Coalition to Prevent Underage Drinking was established in January 2004 as a result of a grant award to the Town of Branford from the State of Connecticut, Office of Policy and Management. The mission of the coalition is to reduce underage drinking through education and law enforcement and to promote successful safe and substance free kids.
